Democrats prevail in Hancock voting

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Democrat candidates Tuesday carried all contested state and local General Election races in Hancock County.

Contested races on the local level in Hancock County included coroner; constable, east and west; supervisor, Districts 1 and 5; and Justice Court judge east.

In the governor's race between State Auditor Ray Mabus and Tupelo businessman Jack Reed, Mabus is the winner with about 54 percent of the statewide vote.

Mabus' margin in Hancock County was slightly higher with 4,675 votes to Reed's 3,327.

However Reed did carry one of the county's largest precincts, Diamondhead.

In the lieutenant governor's race, Democrat Brad Dye gathered more than 70 percent of the votes statewide in the precincts reporting and in Hancock County as well.

He defeated Republican candidate Tom Hamby and Independent candidate Henry Kirksey of Jackson.

Incumbent Secretary of State Dick Molpus, also a Democrat, raked in 80 percent of the votes over Republican candidate Billy Taylor.

Mike Moore of Pascagoula gained the attorney general's office easily with 72 percent of the votes over Republican opponent Jim Herring.

Democrat Marshall Bennett gained about 80 percent of the votes in the race for the state treasurer's office. He downed Republican candidate Wil Colom to take this slot.

In his first bid for statewide office Democrat Pete Johnson easily outdistanced Republican challenger Danny Ware in the state auditor's race, getting 79 percent of the votes from the precincts counted.

Incumbent Jim Buck Ross had no trouble returning for his sixth term as agriculture and commerce commissioner defeating Republican Clyde Magee.

In the District 47 State Senator race, former state representative Margaret "Wootsie" Tate defeated Republican Candidate Marc Chetta and Independent Larry L. Albritton.

On the local level, incumbent Harold J. Stiglet Sr. returned for another term as coroner with 5,828 votes to Republican challenger Gail Nami's 1,922 votes.

Justice Court Judge Joseph "Joe" Dobson of Bay St. Louis also returned for another term with 62 percent of the votes in the East District.

Dobson defeated Republican Buford L. Ladner of Dedeaux and Independent Thomas P. Clarke of Bay St. Louis.

Democrats Paul Ladner of Dedeaux and Gary Lynn Bennett of Pearlinton took the slots for constable east and west, respectively.

Ladner defeated Republican opponent Louis A. Peterson of Dedeaux and Bennett had no trouble with independent L.J. "Larry" Peterson of Clermont Harbor.

In a special election for the Hancock County School Board District 3, a field of five candidates was narrowed to only two who will be voted on in a runoff election Nov. 7.

In the runoff election are Carol Bustetter of Diamondhead and Billy Joe Ladner of Nacaise Crossing. Eliminated from the race are Wayne King, Howard R. Ladner and Johnnie Richard.

ALL SMILES—Hancock County District Five Supervisor-elect Michael (Mike) Ladner, Democratic nominee, is all smiles as Tuesday night election returns give him a 975-550 victory over Republican Michael (Mike) Anthony. Ladner had defeated incumbent James N. (Jimmy) Travirca in the Democratic primary. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Kiln man dies on 603

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Kiln resident died and a second man was injured late Tuesday afternoon in a head-on collision on Highway 603.

Gaston H. Mazeres, 29, of Vidalia Road in Kiln, died of chest and head injuries at about 5 p.m. Tuesday on Highway 603 just south of the Kiln Magik Market, Deputy Hancock County Coroner Jim Odom said.

Mazeres was killed when his southbound white 1982 Chevrolet pick-up truck collided with a northbound 1986 Ford pick-up driven by Berlyn Cuevas of Route Three, Bay St. Louis, State Trooper David Kenny said.

Cuevas was injured and was taken to Hancock Medical Center by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service.

A hospital spokesman said late Wednesday that Cuevas was in stable condition.

Kenny said Mazeres attempted to pass a third vehicle and was struck head-on by the oncoming Ford.

"According to eyewitnesses and physical evidence, the white pick-up had improperly passed and was at fault," the trooper explained.

The two vehicles were apparently traveling at the same speed because they stopped at the same time on impact and neither was shoved backward in the road, he added.

There were no passengers in either vehicle.

Assisting at the scene in addition to Mobile Medic and Odom were Trooper Fred Keel, Coroner Harold Stiglet, Hancock County Sheriff's Department personnel, Diamondhead Fire Department and Kiln Volunteer Fire Department.

Kenny said the investigation is continuing.

Peterson, Ladner new Hancock Supervisors

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock County's Board of Supervisors will once again be totally comprised of Democrats.

In Tuesday's General Election one Democratic nominee defeated the challenge of a Republican nominee while a second turned back an Independent candidate.

The three other Democratic nominees were unopposed in the General Election.

In Tuesday's election, for District One Board of Supervisors, Clermont Harbor resident Robert (Pete) Peterson defeated Independent James (Jim) Thornton 1,131-674 in unofficial returns.

In District Five, Michael (Mike) Ladner of Bay St. Louis defeated Republican Michael (Mike) Anthony 975-450.

Re-elected Hancock County Supervisors are Sam J. Perniclaro, District Four; and Roger Dale Ladner. In District Two, Pearlinton businessman Ronald E. Cuevas defeated board president "A.A. (Dolph) Kellar in the Democratic primary.

Kellar resigned after the defeat and Cuevas was appointed to fill his unexpired term.

Perniclaro was overwhelming in his bid in the primary while Roger Dale Ladner won by a one-vote margin.

Elated over his victory in his third bid for Supervisor, Peterson said, "I would like to thank everyone for their help and offer a special thanks to my opponent for a very clean campaign."

"I am going to do my best for Hancock County and District One," Peterson continued.

Peterson was unsuccessful in bids for District One Supervisor in 1979 and 1983.

This was Thornton's second bid for District One Supervisor.

Michael Ladner commented, "I would like to thank the people of Hancock County, especially those who have worked five long months on my campaign."

"I promise I will work hard to fulfill my pledges made during my campaign. I will work with the citizens, county and city officials for the betterment of Hancock County," Ladner added.

Ladner closed by saying, "It was through the efforts and prayers of everyone concerned to make this dream come true. My heartfelt thanks."

Peterson and Ladner are scheduled to take office in January for the four-year term.

Stark restoration project expanded at Ingalls

Congressman Trent Lott reports Ingalls Shipbuilding in Pascagoula will receive another $28.7 million for restoring the U.S.S. Stark—the Navy frigate damaged earlier this year in the Persian Gulf.

"The Navy is sending a clear message to defense contractors across the country—if they operate effectively and efficiently they will get the Navy's business. Ingalls is doing both and doing it well," the Congressman stated.

"My congratulations to all the folks at Ingalls Shipbuilding—they deserve all the credit," Lott added.

The total planning and restoration contract on the Stark at Ingalls now totals $41.4 million with the project scheduled for completion in August.

Barrios arrested, bond at $20,000

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Lakeshore man released from the Hancock County Jail on bond after being charged with murder has been arrested again.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda Sr., Reggie Barrios was arrested Sunday and remained in jail on $20,000 bond late Wednesday.

Barrios was charged with receiving stolen property in connection with the operation of an automobile "chop shop," Hoda said.

He said the Sheriff's Department recovered two Oldsmobiles that had already been stripped for parts, a pick-up truck that had not yet had any parts removed, and an engine that had already been sold.

The stolen vehicles had come from the New Orleans, La., area, and New Orleans Police Department is assisting in the investigation, Hoda added.

The investigator said Barrios had been charged with murder in an Oct. 19 stabbing that occurred in Clermont Harbor and had been released on bond Oct. 19.

Assisting Hoda at the scene were Deputies Ronald Garcia and Harold Heine.

EROSION REPAIR—A fence stops visitors from stepping out onto an eroded bluff at McLeod Water Park in Kiln. The USDA Soil Conservation Service, in conjunction with the Hancock County Soil Conservation District, Hancock County Board of Supervisors and Pearl River Basin Development District, has started a $170,000 project to end the destruction of the banks of the Jourdan River. The project calls for alteration of the slope of the banks and installation of a layer of geotextile material to stabilize soil and a two-foot layer of riprap. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Supervisors consider giving up attempts to sell hospital building

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has decided to stop trying to sell the old Hancock General Hospital building.

Board Attorney Gerald Gex said an attorney representing a Louisiana corporation that had seemed close to buying the building several months ago had not answered "the last couple of letters I wrote to him."

The firm, Forno-Gray Limited of New Orleans, had planned to turn the building into a personal care nursing facility, but still needed to obtain a certificate of need from the State of Mississippi.

In July, the firm took out a $400,000 option to buy which will expire on Dec. 31.

"Looks like it's a dead issue," Acting Board President Sam Perniciaro said.

"If it is, I want to get in there and see what we need to do before we can use it," he said.

The board had tried to find a buyer for the building after the hospital moved into the Hancock Medical Center Building off US-90 at Drinkwater Road early this year.

A first attempt to sell in February resulted in no bids and caused controversy among the board members regarding whether to use the building for county purposes or continue trying to sell it.

Three board members, including Perniciaro, then Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Kellar and Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca, had originally voted for selling the facility.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge had wanted to let county agencies, especially the Hancock County Welfare Department, use the facility; while Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner had felt the building should be sold to some other local entity.

The board also split its vote on trying to sell the building a second time, a bid advertisement which resulted in the Forno-Gray offer.

The board had considered using the facility for the welfare department, Hancock County Senior Citizens and Hancock County Child Development Center.

The welfare department is in deteriorated quarters on Necaise Avenue that several Hancock County Grand Juries have said should be replaced, and the other two agencies are in facilities that do not belong to the county. Between the two bid openings, the heads of those departments toured the hospital, but attempts to locate the welfare department there were abandoned after the board decided to apply for a Community Development Block Grant for a new facility.

Later, however, the board learned that the county could apply for only one grant per year under the CDBG program, which caused the supervisors to have to choose between applications for funds for a welfare building and for a rural water system in northern Hancock County.

Because the water system was located in Beat Two, Kellar originally was the only one who voted to continue that grant application rather than the welfare department application.

However, the rest of the board changed its vote and agreed to continue another year on the water grant application after meeting with some of the residents of the Catahoula and Steep Hollow communities, where the system would have been constructed had it been funded.

That grant application was turned down last month.

Perniciaro said ordinarily the board would turn to Travirca for information on what work needs to be done before the old hospital building can be used again.

Foul play not suspected in Leetown man's death

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department is continuing its investigation of the Wednesday morning death of a Leetown man, but authorities feel no foul play was involved.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, a shotgun blast to the face that killed 44-year-old Nelson Stockstill of Route Three, Box 389, Picayune, was probably self-inflicted.

Peterson said his office received a call at about 9 a.m. indicating that Stockstill had been found dead at Stockstill Farms, cattle farm and dairy operation.

The man was found lying beside his truck at his dairy farm with a .12 gauge shotgun near his side, the sheriff said. Stockstill was pronounced dead at the scene by Hancock County Coroner Harold Stiglet.

In addition to Peterson and Stiglet, Investigators Glen Strong, Delbert Seay and Nathan Hoda Sr. were at the scene Wednesday.

ETV Brief

FANTASTIC VOYAGE

A new series on ETV aims to take the "curious kid" in all viewers on a fantastic voyage into the world of science.

At the heart of "The Infinite Voyage" is an observation by internationally known physicist Leon Lederman: "Little kids are all scientists. They ask exactly the right questions. Why is the sky blue? What keeps birds up in the air?"

The 12-part series can be seen at 8 p.m., Wednesday, beginning Oct. 28, on Mississippi ETV.

Special effects play a large part in "The Infinite Voyage." For example, viewers may see on their screens the universe reduced to a shimmering primordial mass and then, exploding.

A rage of galaxies hurls toward infinity, flinging starfire points and ink-black dust clouds across an empty nothing, leaving a ballooning sky filled with wonders.

Waveland addition bids remain under advisement

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District has delayed awarding of a contract for a proposed addition to Waveland Elementary School.

The board agreed to keep the matter under advisement at a brief special meeting Tuesday in order to allow more time to check the bids, Superintendent of Education Roger Oge said.

Oge said about 10 bids ranging from $425,000 to $367,000 had been received.

At an earlier meeting, the board had accepted a bid from First Tennessee bank on $3.5 million in bonds for a long-range district building plan that includes the Waveland addition as its first phase.

Oge said the interest rate offered was 7.97 percent.

Later phases of the long-range plan include improvements and additions at North Bay Elementary School, Bay Junior High School and Bay Senior High School.

The Gin Game is an exceedingly funny as well as deeply moving play in which the game of gin rummy becomes a metaphor for the developing relationship between two new friends on the porch of a retirement home.

Starring in the two-character show are New Stage Producing Artistic Director Jane Reid-Pety and Scott Edmonds of Little Rock. Reid-Pety recently played Edna Earle Ponder in her one-woman show based on Eudora Welty's The Ponder Heart, which she performed as guest artist for the University of Akron.

Edmonds most recently appeared as Bottom in A Midsummer Night's Dream at American Stage Company in St. Petersburg, Fla. For the past 10 years he acted at Arkansas Repertory Theatre in his home state.

Cathy Sawyer of Little Rock is directing the production. Sawyer is the Associate Director of the Arkansas Repertory Theatre. In addition to her acting and administrative duties at The Rep, she has directed several shows there.

She has also served as guest director at American Stage Company and in various summer stock theatres. She recently appeared as Ruth in New Stage's production of So Long On Lonely Street.

Costume and set design for the production are by Janet Gray. Bill McCarty III is lighting designer. Production Manager/Technical Director and Sound Designer is Kenneth Lewis. Katherine Pierce is Production Stage Manager.

This is the time of year when Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana and Hancock County firefighters begin preparing toys for the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund.

As many of you know, there are many boys and girls in our county who would have a bleak Christmas if it wouldn't be for the work provided by the Doll and Toy Fund.

The Doll and Toy Fund last year gave toys to more than 975 boys and girls.

Lizana says indications are there will probably be as many or more deserving children this year.

We realize it is early to think about Christmas, but in order for the firefighters to prepare for the many children, it is necessary to begin making preparations.

The Doll and Toy Fund receives assistance from several areas.

These contributions come from individuals, businesses, organizations, merchants, corporations and also the Hancock County United Way.

Some of the toys are provided by families whose children have outgrown them and donate them to the Doll and Toy Fund.

The Doll and Toy Fund really works throughout the year, as in some cases, a fire destroys a family home in Hancock County, and if there are children, all of their toys are destroyed, too. These children are provided toys to help overcome the tragedy.

The community's response in recent years has been very good and greatly appreciated by Chief Lizana and area firefighters, as well as the deserving children receiving toys for Christmas.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department receives the names of deserving children with help from the Welfare Department.

Persons interested in making a contribution can send it to: The Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund, c/o Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis, MS. 39520.

Firefighters are right now busy restoring, cleaning, fixing, and painting some toys which have already been donated.

Delivery of the toys are made by firefighters, Hancock County sheriff's deputies and Bay St. Louis and Waveland police officers.

If you need further information, call Chief Lizana at 467-4736.

The Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 139 will have a benefit spaghetti dinner on Friday night at the Legion home on Green Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis.

The dinner is to be prepared by (Big John) Rutherford and his kitchen crew and will be available from 5 to 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the benefit dinner will be used for community activities by the Auxiliary.

Tickets are available from Auxiliary members or at the door for a donation of $3 each. Take-out dinners will be available.

Friday night are the final regular season games for high school football.

There are some very exciting games on tap in Hancock County.

The Tigers of Bay High will entertain the Rockachaws of St. Stanislaus.

This should be a very good game, as Bay High stumbled last week after winning six games in a row and Stanislaus has won their last two games.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central will host a strong state-rated d'Iberville in Hawk stadium.

This too should be a very fine game.

It looks like every high school football fan in Hancock County will be at a game on Friday cheering for the team of their choice.

The Pirates of Pass Christian will be trying to get into the win column when they visit the Long Beach Bearcats. This could be a game where the Pirates could come out on top.

We hope to see you at the game on Friday.

On Saturday is the WalkAmerica benefit in Hancock for the March of Dimes.

As you know the March of Dimes has been working for years trying to cure children's ills.

For further information on the WalkAmerica, call Libby Milner at 467-9048, or Betsy Ashman at 467-5496.

This is just a reminder about the Hancock County Fair which will continue through Sunday.

The fair is at the County Fairgrounds, Longfellow Road, and offers something for residents of all ages.

JACKSON—This has been an uneventful election year for State Insurance Commissioner George Dale.

For the second straight time, the 47-year-old Dale was Mississippi's only statewide elected official to be returned to his job without opposition in the Democratic Primary or the general election.

But Dale, re-elected Tuesday for his fourth 4-year term in the insurance post, has ambivalent feelings about his political future.

"Of course, I am glad I didn't have to run a campaign this year," says Dale, "but sometimes I think I have stayed in this office too long."

"Politically it's not smart to stay in a regulatory office this long because pretty soon you get blamed for everything that goes wrong."

While Dale has been on a hot seat because of the crunch of rising rates in property and casualty insurance and the crisis in rural fire insurance coverage, he has managed to keep down organized political opposition.

One headache of being insurance commissioner in Mississippi has been that he is blamed for the high insurance rates when actually he has had little power over the setting of the rates.

For many years, the state has had a 2-rider horse in the regulation of insurance premium rates. While the state has an elected state insurance commissioner, it has also had a three-member state Insurance Commission which actually set the rates.

The commissioner has been the ex-officio chairman of the commission, but he voted only in case of ties, which seldom happened on a three-member commission.

With Dale doing some persuasive but unobtrusive lobbying, the 1987 Legislature enacted house Bill 1,000, the first major reform of state insurance regulatory laws in many years.

Under the reform measure, the old three-member state Insurance Commission will go out of existence in January, and responsibility for insurance rate revisions and policy changes will come directly under the commissioner.

If the commissioner does not disapprove the rate revision in 30 days, it will automatically go into effect. If he disapproves, a public hearing will be conducted, after which the commissioner will render a decision, which will be subject to appeal to the courts.

Not only will the new law give the insurance commissioner far more direct power in regulating the insurance industry, it will largely eliminate the tedious process insurance companies have had to contend with in Mississippi just to make some small changes in their policies.

The state's archaic insurance regulation procedures in the past, Dale contends, have kept many national companies from offering some policies in Mississippi which they have offered in other states.

One immediate result of the new law, Dale says, will be a reduction in rates for Homeowners policies in Mississippi, because of increased competition, plus the fact that the state is now seeing better fire protection in rural areas.

Dale has been out in the boondocks getting people to organize fire departments, and right now there is a record number of local volunteer fire fighting companies being certified by the state fire academy.

If you have a certified fire department within five road miles of your residence, you get a 3 percent reduction in homeowners policies and 5 percent on fire insurance policies.

He's thought about running for governor, and also Congress in recent years, Dale says, but both of those ambitions have been permanently abandoned.

What is not widely known is that in 1981, Dale was heavily recruited by Mississippi Republicans to be their candidate for the Fourth Congressional district seat, after Jon Hinson's resignation.

"I asked my five children how they felt about going to Washington, and only one, the youngest, liked the idea," Dale says, "so that was the end of that."

Right now, since the defeat of his friend, veteran Louisiana Insurance Commissioner Sherman Bernard, in that state's recent elections, Dale is that state's most senior insurance commissioner in the country.

Bernard's downfall was that he "Just became too controversial." That's one mistake George Dale doesn't plan to make.

STRONG VOICES IN WASHINGTON

Now that Senator John Stennis has announced his plans to retire from the U.S. Senate, several well-known state politicians are considering making a run for the seat.

Whoever follows Stennis will be following a political institution.

The 86-year-old Democrat currently serves as president pro tempore of the Senate and chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He is the third in line of succession to the Presidency.

His service in the Senate has earned him the respect of his colleagues and the loyal support of his constituents. He has served in the Senate for 40 years.

Those considering running for the office likely will find that the expectations of Mississippians for the holder of that office are very high.

Mississippi needs strong voices in Washington just as it needs strong leadership at the State Capitol.

Strong leadership by the state's congressional delegation can play a part in many of Mississippi's efforts for progress and economic development.

A prime example is the Superconducting Super Collider project. Mississippi wants to be the location of that development prize as much as any other state in the running. Strong voices in Washington could make the difference.

Give a hoot. Don't pollute.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lou

STATESMAN/"FIRST-CLASS"

He was born in 1901. His home; a small town of Kemper County. And it didn't take the folks in Dekalb long to realize they had something special. Special indeed.

This great man attended two different higher learning institutions and received honorary degrees from four others.

He started his political career in the Mississippi House of Representatives; that was back in 1928. He was prosecuting criminals in the 30's and sentencing them in the 40's. This background prepared him well for his next job; a job he has held for more than 40 years.

On Nov. 4, 1947, John C. Stennis was elected to our United States Senate. That was a good choice.

Stennis would go on to be re-elected six times and hold key leadership positions on two of the most powerful Senate committees; Appropriations and Armed Services.

His integrity there is well respected, by both parties and by this Administration.

And he has my respect. Senator Stennis and I have worked closely on key Mississippi projects; the NASA facility in Hancock County and contract procurement for Ingalls Shipbuilding in Pascagoula, just to name a couple.

This week, John Stennis announced that he is retiring, but he hasn't done so yet. That's why I haven't made an announcement, and I won't here, about my future plans. I will spend these next few days reflecting. I will think about the things John Stennis has done for Mississippi and what he means to this great state.

When John Stennis does step down, I will miss him; as a colleague in the Congress; as a friend. But so will Mississippi. We are losing a "first-class" individual. A true statesman!

Alzheimer's Disease meeting scheduled

In conjunction with November being National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month, a first Mississippi Alzheimer's Disease meeting will be held Saturday, Nov. 14 at Jackson's Holiday Inn North, 5075 I-55 North Frontage Road, from 9 a.m. until 3:45 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to increase communications between the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association (ADRA), a national organization, and support groups in Mississippi.

The meeting will be sponsored by ADRA; the Mississippi Council on Aging, Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs; and Central Mississippi Planning and Development District Area Agency on Aging.

Alzheimer's Disease affects the cells of the brain and is the most common cause of severe intellectual impairment in older individuals. There is no established treatment to cure or reverse progression of this disorder that causes confusion and forgetfulness in 1.5-2.5 million elderly Americans.

Participants at the meeting will include Marilyn Lange of Altamonte Springs, Fla., national field representative for ADRA; Diane Young of New Orleans and Marshall Anderson of Atlanta, ADRA regional board delegates; and Neva Greenwald, president of the League of Women Voters of Mississippi.

A $7.50 registration fee will include lunch at the Holiday Inn. Anyone wishing to register should contact Mrs. Bobby Boykin at 956-3575 by Nov. 5.

Search committee seeks chief of police training academy

JACKSON—A 15-member search committee has been appointed to assist in the selection of the director of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy (MLEOTA) near Pearl in Rankin County.

The search committee, appointed by Commissioner of Public Safety James L. Roberts Jr., represents various political and governmental levels of law enforcement in Mississippi, with additional representation of the press, academicians, and women and minorities in law enforcement.

The committee met with Roberts in Jackson Wednesday at the Department of Public Safety headquarters building.

Members were asked by Roberts to review and analyze applications, interview applicants, and recommend the top applicants for final selection.

"I am deeply committed to working for the continual improvement of our criminal justice system, and I wish to locate the most qualified and best person possible for the directorship of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy," Roberts said.

"This academy is the principal provider of minimum standards training to law enforcement officers in Mississippi. For this reason, the academy director must provide leadership to the other four police department training academies that have been given approval as minimum standards training facilities," the commissioner added.

The position has been filled in an acting capacity since December 1985 when Kent McDaniel resigned to practice law in Jackson.

Roberts charged the search committee to perform its duties in a "candid, thorough, and professional fashion, without regard to personalities and within the framework of all applicable laws."

"We need the absolutely best qualified person we can find as academy director. This is a highly visible position that speaks for law enforcement services in Mississippi. The person must understand the law, respect the law and uphold the law."

"We have long since passed the day in Mississippi when we can exclude quality law enforcement training," Roberts said.

The state facility trains officers from various state, county, and municipal law enforcement agencies within its current budget of $893,638. The position requires knowledge and experience in training, education, administration, business management, and criminal justice/law enforcement.

Minimum qualifications for applicants include a master's degree in criminal justice, law enforcement, business administration, public administration, or a related field and 10 years experience, three years of which must have been directly related to the previously described duties. A bachelor's degree in criminal justice, law enforcement, business administration, public administration, education, or a related field will qualify an applicant for consideration if the applicant has 11 years of experience, three of which must have been directly related to the above-described duties.

Starting salary is $30,597 annually plus standard state fringe benefits. Deadline for applying is Nov. 15, 1987.

Members of the search committee are Joel D. Banks, Itta Bena Police Chief and president of the Mississippi Association of Chiefs of Police; Marvin (Pop) Lawrence, Atala County Sheriff and president of the Mississippi Sheriffs Association; Keith Oubre, Hattiesburg Police Chief and president of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Association; J. Ben Hunt, Pike County Coroner and president of the Mississippi Coroners Association; Maj. Billie T. Hughes, Department of Public Safety/Mississippi

Highway Safety Patrol; Maj. Willie L. Richardson, Mississippi State Tax Commission.

Also, Agent Barbara Allen, Alcohol Beverage Control Division, Mississippi State Tax Commission; Patricia W. Sprout, director of training, Mississippi Department of Corrections; Frank Davis, Claiborne County Sheriff; Curtis Green, director of training, Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation; Dr. Larry LeFlore, Department of Criminal Justice, University of Southern Mississippi.

And, Alane Limerick, Mississippi

Press Association; Ralph Breazeale, president of the Campus Law Enforcement Officers Association; Charles H. Newell, deputy chief, Jackson Police Department, and Gerald Wayne Jones, Jackson County First District constable and past president of the Mississippi Constables Association.

At its first meeting the committee selected Deputy Chief Newell as chairperson.

"Even though the law does not provide for a search committee, I think the input and participation of these law enforcement and professional leaders assures us of a thorough search, and a quality selection," Roberts said.

"They are providing a valuable service to our state on a totally voluntary basis since they cannot be compensated or reimbursed for their expenses. I appreciate their willingness to serve and I look forward to the selection of a new director," he said.

Lt. Col. Donald L. O'Casey, assistant chief of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, is serving as coordinator and staff director for the search committee.

Raiders edged in homecoming

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders fumbled on the goal-line and the Calvary Heights War Eagles punched the ball into the end zone to secure a 28-22 victory in overtime to spoil a valiant Raider effort at their homecoming last Saturday.

"The Raiders were ready and played their best game of the year against a tough Eagles squad," said Coach Terry Mahan.

Calvary Heights scored first but missed their extra point conversion. The Raiders came right back to score on a 60 yard pass and run play from quarterback Chris Riggs to tailback Sterling Thibodeaux, and after the 1 point conversion by Billy Guice, led 7-6. Calvary Heights scored again before the half and were successful in a 2 point conversion, so led 14-7 at halftime.

After the half, Billy Guice picked up an errant Eagle pitch and ran it back 53 yards for the Raiders, but a missed conversion made the score 14-13.

Calvary Heights was not to be denied the Eagle quarterback Danny Speights, who gained 212 yards in the game and over 1000 yards for the season, scored again on a 43 yard sweep, which made the score 22-13.

The Raiders' last touchdown came on a run by Thibodeaux but again missed the extra point to make the score 22-19.

Billy Guice kicked a 30 yard field goal for the Raiders to tie the score with 1 minute and 30 seconds on the clock.

In overtime, the Eagles scored while the Raiders fumbled on the goal line on a controversial call.

"It was a solid effort and I was extremely proud of our team," said Mahan.

In compiling statistics, Sterling Thibodeaux had 48 yards rushing, 60 yards in pass receptions, and 70 yards on punt returns. Billy Guice had 88 yards on punt and kick-off returns and another 24 yards rushing.

QB CHRIS RIGGS

Fullback Hailey Odom had 12 yards and Johnny Mount 10 yards rushing.

Defensively, Mike Kergosien had 21 tackles, Jamie Ladner 15 and 1 quarterback sack and Sterling Thibodeaux had 15. Senior cornerback Walter Rode had his finest game, contributing 7 tackles with 3 of those shutting down sweeps which would have gone for touchdowns.

The Raiders' next game is at home against Memorial High School of New Orleans, Friday, Nov. 6. Kick-off is at 2 p.m.

Miniature decoys to be at Ocean Spring Arts Fair

Jim Quint, a carver of realistic but small birds, will be demonstrating his craft at the Ocean Springs Arts and Crafts Festival, Nov. 7-8. Starting with a block of wood and using a flexible shaft grinding tool, Quint will show how to rough out a bird's body, and then reveal how the fine feathers and other details are added with a burning tool.

Self-taught, in both carving and painting small decoys and birds, Mr. Quint started carving about seven years ago. He had always worked with wood to build furniture and other wood pieces, but his interest in duck decoys was sparked by a friend's collection.

He was sure he could do as well or better, but opted to carve in miniature. Within a year he had attained the quality proficiency he had set as his goal.

After the initial carving, Quint coats the bird with a sanding sealer. He then uses a burning tool to simulate feathers, working with a magnifying glass as the feathers can be as small as 1/8 inch wide by 1/2 inch long. Lastly, he inserts glass eyes and applies a protective finishing coating.

Using a wood called "Water Tupelo", which grows locally in swamps, it takes Jim anywhere from twelve to ninety hours to complete one bird, in sizes ranging from 1/4 to 1/2 scale, or two to six inches in length.

A native of Biloxi, Jim Quint now lives in Mobile, Alabama where he is a Medical Professional Representative with Mark and Company. He is the father of seven children, one of whom is Dr. Michael F. Quint, O.D., the president of the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce.

The 9th Annual Peter Anderson Arts Festival and Food Fair will be held in Ocean Springs Saturday, Nov. 7 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 8, from noon to 4 p.m. Some 100 craft booths will be located around the old railroad depot on Washington Avenue. Arts and crafts items will include jewelry, wood furniture and woodcraft, ceramics, dolls, dollhouses and toys, decoys and bird carvings, baskets and many other gift items, as well as an exhibition of Peter Anderson's pottery. The fair is dedicated to this artist who founded Shearwater Pottery.

A number of food booths will be situated in the fair area, sponsored by local restaurants, churches and clubs. Entertainment will include musicians, dancers and singers.

For additional information on the Arts festival, visit the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce in the depot, or telephone Betty Goodwin, at 875-4424.

A platter of tender-crisp cooked fresh vegetables served along with lettuce and tomatoes, and bathed in a tangy marinade, can be a decorative as well as tasty addition to the buffet supper table, or to any other dinner or supper table menu, for that matter.

If you're pressed for time, or a bit on the lazy side these days, you can, of course, substitute frozen or canned vegetables—but I prefer the fresh.

I'm not a vegetarian, but I confess to being a "Rabbit" would-be gourmet of sorts, and I happily munch along as I cook, so that I must always be sure to have more mushrooms or green beans or such on hand that I will need for the finished dish.

So, here's my:

MARINATED VEGETABLE SALAD

¾ cup oil (olive or salad or a mixture)
½ cup wine or other vinegar
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. minced onion
½ tsp. dill weed (optional)
½ tsp. sugar (optional)

Dashes of pepper, salt, Worcestershire sauce

(That's for the marinade, now for the vegetables)

1 bunch fresh broccoli, cleaned and broken into flowerets

½ head fresh cauliflower (or 1 small head) same as above

½ to ¾ lb. fresh green beans—"stringbeans"

½ lb. carrots, scraped and sliced

Green onions and tops, slivered, as desired

Parsley

Lettuce

Sliced or quartered or "chunked" tomatoes

Mix the marinade ingredients together in a jar with a tight lid, shaking well, then refrigerate for an hour or a bit longer. Meanwhile, cook the vegetables until barely tender, still crisp—but do not overcook, please! It's a little more trouble, of course, to cook them separately as I do, but you can cook them together. (To be truthful, I usually make this marinade salad from whatever vegetables are leftover from prior meals.

Arrange the cooked vegetables in a large, shallow dish, and pour the marinade over. Refrigerate, covered, for at least three hours, and every once in a while as you pass by the fridge, baste a bit with the marinade, to be sure that every veggie gets its share.

To serve, arrange the vegetables on a platter and garnish with the lettuce, tomatoes, green onions and parsley. (Six to eight servings).

You can make this dish more substantial by adding sliced boiled new potatoes and sliced onions, white or yellow, also chunks of ham or tuna fish or whatever's on hand.

Bay firm awarded Navoceano contracts

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Bay St. Louis firm has been awarded two contracts by the Naval Oceanographic Office at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County.

A spokesman for Congressman Trent Lott stated that Bay Technical Associates had been awarded two contracts totalling about $118,000 to build computer components for the U.S. Navy.

The contracts contain options totalling more than $500,000, and all indications point to the Navy exercising those options, Lott said.

"This is fantastic news for Bay-Tech and for that I salute them," the congressman added.

Phil Kies, electronic systems division manager for Bay Technical Associates, said the two contracts are fairly small and the firm does not anticipate adding any personnel to handle the work, which involves making interface boxes that allow data that has collected by Navoceano's ships and shore stations to be distributed.

The units are also known as multiplexors and buffers, or data distribution boxes, and are part of a Navoceano system set up for supplying meteorological data to the fleet, Kies added.

He added that his division, recently set up at Bay Technical, is primarily geared to government work but that these are two of the first contracts obtained.

"We're hopeful of obtaining additional contracts both at NSTL and in other spheres of government communications."

"We hope to keep a share of the work at NSTL local. Let's keep business on the Gulf Coast, keep people employed and help the community in general."

He said Bay-Tech has been here for 11 years and has done quite well in the commercial sector, and is about to increase its emphasis on government work and "all the intricate problems associated with that," Kies added.

taining the building until it could be sold or a tenant could be found, but he is currently recovering from heart bypass surgery.

The board discussed hiring an engineer Monday, but Perniciaro said that a general contractor could probably provide the needed assessment of the building's condition.

Beat Two Supervisor Ronald Cuevas suggested that Architect Fred Wagner be asked to look at the building, along with Welfare Department Director Wallace Bradley and possibly a representative of some of the other agencies involved.

The board made no decision on the matter Monday, but all three supervisors present expressed concern that the building is deteriorating and has become a victim of vandalism.

In other business Monday, the supervisors:

—Set the dedication of a new pier and boat launch facility at Pearl-ington at 10 a.m. Nov. 19;

—Proclaimed Nov. 19 as Great American Smokeout Day at the request of Mary Caillier, a member of the Hancock County Chapter of American Cancer Society;

—Heard a report from County Engineer Larry Seal on a beach road repair project currently 90 percent completed, and discussed related repairs of box culverts in the Clermont Harbor and Buccaneer State Park area; and —Authorized Gex and South Mississippi Planning and Development District Consultant Jeff Taylor to meet with representatives of American Legion Post 139 regarding a property lease related to a proposed grant-funded improvement of the American Legion Veteran's Memorial Public Pier at the end of Washington Street.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. Nov. 13 in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Diamondhead dinner theater to present one-act series

Diamondhead Little Theatre's dinner production of "Three in One"—three one-act plays by John Patrick—opens Wednesday evening, Nov. 11 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Adult comedies, directed by Missy Marshall and Ricky Thorp, offer welcome relief to Black Monday or any other assorted problems.

Act I, "Raconteur," stars Ed Scanlan as a paterfamilias driving his wife up the wall with his new-found hobby: telling jokes.

Sally Rodrigue is the wife at wit's end; Ann Clark is their daughter with all the answers.

"Strategy," the second play, with Missy Marshall, Ed Scanlan and Don Marshall, shows how women of great resource might rid themselves of persistent suitors who don't know a hint when they hear one.

"Ambiguity," a case of mistaken identity (?), features Don Marshall and Benny Mistretta with Brierley Acker and Ann Clark providing support and guidance in their own peculiar ways.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. with curtain at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $15 for DLT members, $17.50 for non-members. The play continues on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 12 and 13.

For tickets and reservations, call 255-1814, -7826, or -2697.

THREE-IN-ONE—Missy Marshall and Ed Scanlan share a not-so-tender moment in "Strategy," second of the three one-act comedies by John Patrick being presented by the Diamondhead Little Theatre on Nov. 11, 12, and 13 at the Diamondhead Country Club. Ticket price includes dinner. Call 255-1814 or 255-6927 for information and reservations.

Rocks head for Tigertown with 'good attitude': Lyons

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws will face their cross-town rival Bay High when the Rocks travel to Tiger Stadium Friday night.

The Rockchaws are presently enjoying a 5-4 season, their best in recent years. Bay High is 6-2 following a loss to Hancock North Central last week.

At St. Stanislaus, Coach Ken Lyons said his squad has had a solid week of practice.

"Our attitude this week has been very good. Our boys appear confident—they believe in their ability to pull an upset," said Coach Lyons.

The key to the game, according to Lyons, is whether St. Stanislaus can keep its offense on the field most of the evening.

"We have a lot of respect for the Bay High squad," said Lyons. "They are very well coached. I can't see any flaws in their execution. They are definitely not a one-man team."

Twenty-two seniors on the Rockchaw squad will be playing their last game for SSC.

"Yes, this is a big game for us," stated Lyons. "We surely would like to end the season with a sweet taste in our mouth."

One of the most incredible records in football history was set by the University of Nebraska in a game against Colorado in 1983 when Nebraska—unbelievably—scored the amazing total of 41 points in LESS THAN 3 MINUTES! Early in the third quarter, Nebraska made 6 touchdowns on a combination of long runs, fumble recoveries and pass interceptions, and kicked 5 extra points, for that total of 41 points in just 2 minutes and 55 seconds!

Where's the biggest football stadium in America? Answer is the Rose Bowl seats 104,091 people. Second-biggest is the University of Michigan Stadium which seats 101,701.

What was the toughest schedule any football team ever played? How about this. In 1899, Sewanee played 5 games in 5 different cities in 6 days against Texas, Texas A&M, Tulane, LSU and Mississippi. And the amazing thing is, Sewanee won each of those games!

Hawks to host championship

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

In the final game of the regular season, the Hancock North Central Hawks will be hosting the d'Iberville Warriors, in a game that will determine the district winner and who will be in state playoffs.

d'Iberville is currently the leader in the district, having defeated St. Martin and George County but a win by the Hawks will give Hancock the first place title.

"The d'Iberville team has a season record of eight wins and a single loss and are very solid on offense and defense," Head Coach Irvin Favre said.

"They have good coaches, good players and a good record, everything you need to be district champions," he said.

d'Iberville has been a very strong team for the past several years and play a real tough schedule including Biloxi and Picayune high schools, he added.

"The Hawks have just got to take the field and really get after d'Iberville," Favre said.

"We know what we are up against and I believe the Hawks will accept the challenge and go after d'Iberville to win the district championship," he said.

"I will be very disappointed if the Hawks don't play really hard this week," he added.

Favre said one factor he believes is very important this week is the support by both student and adult fans.

"Some people think the season is over when we play Bay St. Louis but this season of the game even with a loss as long as the win is by 11 points or less.

"If we are defeated by 12 points are more, the runner-up slot in the district is tied three ways and the winner will be decided by the flip of a coin," Favre said.

"We need everyone's support and are encouraging everyone to come out and support us," he said.

round of playoffs.

The district winner gets to host the first playoff game and this can be a big advantage, Favre said.

The Hawks are looking for a win this week but it will not be the last season of the game even with a loss as long as the win is by 11 points or less.

"If we are defeated by 12 points are more, the runner-up slot in the district is tied three ways and the winner will be decided by the flip of a coin," Favre said.

"We need everyone's support and are encouraging everyone to come out and support us," he said.

Tigers to finish against St. Stan

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay High Tigers will end their regular season play Friday when they host cross-town rival St. Stanislaus Rockchaws at McCullough Stadium.

The 6-2 Tigers, coming off a defeat at the hands of county rival Hancock North Central, have had problems with injuries since their victory over St. Martin two weeks ago, but Head Coach Cleveland Williams said he feels most of the trouble is behind his team.

Four starters were injured in the St. Martin contest and missed last week's game against the Hawks.

"We also have to regroup after losing to Hancock North Central last Friday night. In that contest, we had three go down from injuries," the coach said.

"We'll be playing this week without action from Monty Strong, who had been doing an outstanding job for the Tigers," he added.

"The Tigers will have everyone else back in action for this game, even though we're not 100 percent."

St. Stanislaus is coming into the game fresh from a victory over Pass Christian.

"They'll be fired up for the Tigers this week because we have had a lot of mental and physical breakdowns, but we are putting everything back into the right places and getting our program moving into high gear again," Williams explained.

He said the Tigers will have to guard against a balanced offensive attack and particularly against the Rockchaw quarterback Cedric Smith.

"Smith is doing an impressive job at the quarterback slot for the Rocks. He's a scrambler who could hurt you on throw and if it's a seam he'll take it up the field on a run," the Tiger coach said.

"The Rocks have a real good receiver crop who have the ability to hurt you in the secondary once they're alone."

"Defensively, they're aggressive and quick."

"We are going back to the basic thing we can do best, which is run, and it could possibly open up our passing game. On defense, we are making a few changes. I hope it will make us stronger in the areas where we were weak last week."

Probable starters for the Tigers include, on offense, Troy Haynes, Jerry Island, Doral Nichols, Heath Hopgood, Lance Bell, Darrain Washington, Dante Curry, Doug Rhodes, Chad LaFontaine, Andrew Collins and Brian Laneaux.

Defensive starters are expected to include Island, Hopgood, Bell, Washington, Ed Elliott, Andrew Collins, Haynes, Laneaux, Rickey Whavers, Rhodes and Curry.

The game begins at 7:30 p.m. at McCullough Field.

Greg Necaise leads Wildcat defense

Pearl River's game tonight against Southwest is more than a season-ending contest for two teams left out of the playoff picture.

A Pearl River victory means the 'Cats will have a third place finish in the division, a winning record and a lot of momentum for the coming year.

A Southwest win will mean that the once 6-0 Bears will have stopped a disheartening three-game losing skid which dropped them from the state playoffs and a number-two national ranking.

The Wildcats, pre-season favorites to make the playoffs, began the year with an unbelievable 2-4 record. During the last three weeks, however, the Mike Nelson-led 'Cats have reeled off three convincing wins to post a 5-4 ledger.

"We can prove we are as good at this stage of the season as we were supposed to be," said Nelson. "A victory over Southwest will give us four wins in a row and that's as good as the playoff teams have done."

Hinds wrapped up the number-one spot in the South this past weekend by blasting Jones while the East Central Warriors took the number-two spot with a 44-0 thrashing of the Bears.

In the north division Northwest is in first place and Northeast in second. Pearl River beat Northeast 38-14, but lost to Northwest 31-27 and Hinds 26-22. The 'Cats' only blowout this year was a 21-0 setback to East Central.

Southwest opened with six straight wins before losing to Jones 13-7. The next week East Mississippi stunned the Bears 30-13.

"They (Southwest) won their close games early in the year," said Nelson, "but they lost their quarterback in the fifth game and they have not recovered."

On the other hand the Wildcats lost a couple of their star players early in the year and it took a little time to get the team to jell.

"We have a good mixture at this time," said Nelson. "Scott Nease is doing a fine job at quarterback and Jerry Rush has really taken up the slack at running back. Ransom Funchess has also been a great surprise at the wingback position."

On defense the Wildcats are led by linebacker Greg Necaise, Jerryl Geathers at defensive end and Lionel Ellison who was moved inside on the line.

"Our defense has really been playing great football these last three weeks," said Nelson. "It's a shame we can't start the season over again."

The Wildcats are averaging nearly 28 points per game while giving up about 14. Both statistics are near the top in the league standings.

Last year the Wildcats beat Southwest 17-14, but the Bears shot the 'Cats down 32-7 '85. Over the years the Wildcats have won 35 games, lost nine and tied three against Southwest.

"Our sophomores have really come through for us during the last half of the season," said Nelson. "They are the reason we did not give up the ghost when things got so bad

Millsaps won the first meeting between the two schools last year 43-0 in Jackson, Mississippi.

The Majors ended their home season last week with a 28-16 victory over Washington University. Split end Darrin Estes scored three touchdowns, a 15 yard reception from quarterback Rusty Davis and touchdown runs of three and two yards.

Davis for the day completed 18 of 32 passes for 260 yards, including the touchdown pass to Estes and a nine yard strike to fullback Jerry Lenard.

Oyster Depuration

The opportunity to demonstrate and to realize potential oyster depuration activities on a commercial-scale basis in Mississippi was made possible by removing state legal restrictions. Removal of the legal restrictions was facilitated by a bill introduced by Senator Tommy Gollott of Biloxi and approved by the state legislature during its last regular session.

During the month of August 1987, the Bureau received official approval to begin work on a grant to evaluate and demonstrate an oyster depuration system.

The project effort is funded by the National Marine Fisheries Service with matching funds provided by the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation through the Bureau of Marine Resources. Planning efforts have been underway for several months.

Now with approval of the grant, implementation of work can be initiated to evaluate and demonstrate oyster depuration technology under conditions applicable to Mississippi. Dr. Cornell Ladner, the Bureau's Chief of the Scientific-Statistical Division, is the project leader for the grant-funded effort. Dr. Richard Leard, Bureau Director, is the project coordinator.

Ecomar, a firm in Goleta, California, grows mussels on the legs of thirteen off-shore oil rigs in Southern California.

In 1987, Ecomar will sell approximately 320,000 pounds of mussels, compared to 100,000 three years ago.

The mussels fetch a market price of $40 for a 50-pound bushel. They are scraped off the legs, pumped to the surface through a large hose and deposited in a declumping, cleaning and preliminary sorting machine.

Then they are bagged, stored in fresh running seawater and transported by boat to an onshore refrigeration unit. Some of the harvest is immediately shipped by air for overnight delivery in the East and Midwest; the rest is trucked to local customers the next morning.

In 1986, "U.S. oyster landings yielded 40.5 million pounds of meats valued at $78.1 million—a decrease of 3.6 million pounds (8 percent) in quantity, but an increase of $8.0 million (11 percent) in value compared with 1985.

The Gulf region (principally Louisiana with 58 percent of the region's total) led in production with 20.5 million pounds of meats, (50 percent of the national total) followed by the

HOMECOMING WIN

The Wildcats put the icing on a beautiful 78th Homecoming Saturday afternoon by blasting the Mississippi Delta Trojans 35-3.

The Wildcats overcame two fumbles and two interceptions, one of which led to the three-point Delta score, to outtrush the visitors 361 to 40. In the overall offense Pearl River dominated 401 yards to 132.

"We are real proud of the kids," said Wildcat head coach Mike Nelson. "Right now we are playing like I was hoping we would have played from the beginning of the year."

The romp was so extreme that Nelson put in 12 runners who gained yardage. That included two quarterbacks, Scott Nease and Chris Collins, both freshmen and both of whom threw for scores.

"We played sluggish at times," said Nelson, "but on balance, our defense did a real good job. The Trojans did real well on offense coming in, averaging better than 20 points per game. We're real proud of the defense for that."

It was the third straight win for the "new" Pearl River. "We ran into a bad stretch there with the losses to Hinds and Jones that really hurt. It really hurt their attitude, and we had to get it back."

The Wildcats showed their intention to wrap up the game early on. On their first possession of the game, Pearl River drove the ball 78 yards to the Delta two-yard line.

The highlight of the drive was a 38-yard run by Jerry Rush, who would end up with 105 yards on 15 carries to lead the Wildcats. He undid his work on the next play by fumbling at the goal line, allowing the Trojans to recover, but it signaled the end of the day for Delta.

Three incomplete passes and one punt later, Pearl River started again, this time at their own 23. Four plays later, aided by a 35-yard run by Thurman Geathers, Ransom Funches pulled in a 21-yard pass from Nease to take the lead.

Picayune's Joey Tatum added the first of his five extra points to give the Wildcats the 7-0 lead with 5:59 left in the first quarter.

Around eight minutes into the second quarter the Trojans were faced with a fourth and 13 at their own 23. Greg McDaniel, the Trojan punter who would end up kicking 10 times for 30.8 yards per shot, tapped a 37-yard punt which came down at the Pearl River 40. It came down in the hands of Anthony Jurich, who tightrope the sideline for 60 yards and another score.

The game would have remained a shutout except for a Wildcat fumble at their own 22. The defense held Delta to no yards, so kicker Greg Burke kicked through a 39-yard field goal.

The score was 14-3 at the half, but the yardage markers said 206 yards rushing for Pearl River to 30 for the Trojans.

And it was all Wildcats in the final two frames. Rush on a two-yard plunge at 3:14 in the third, a 28-yard pass from Collins to Louis Gholar with 2:42 in the fourth, and William Earl Harper's 67-yard run in the late fourth closed out the scoring for the celebrating home team.

"We were trying to run the clock out," Nelson said of Harper's run. "I had no idea he was going to go that far."

"Delta changed quarterbacks midway in the second half, lifting starter Mike Jenkins for backup McDaniel. McDaniel, well known to local fans as the quarterback for Clarksdale in last year's 5-A championship loss to Picayune, matched Jenkins with two completions out of 14 tries, one interception and no touchdowns.

Bubba Trotter was the leading rusher for the Trojans with 23 yards on seven carries. For comparison, six Pearl River runners gained more than Trotter's figure.

Nelson said the 'Cats have every intention of winning the final game. "I think the main thing though is that we will have won four in a row, and when you do that, it is a real positive mood. That's the way we are looking at it. That means our kids played as good as anyone at the latter end of the season."

Poplarville merchants take part in homecoming

Thirty members of the Poplarville Merchants Association participated in the first annual Pearl River College "homecoming window decoration" contest.

"Almost every window in town had some type of maroon and gold," said Donna Wilson, alumni director. "We had many comments from the returning alumni about how pretty the city looked."

Entry boxes were placed around town last week for the drawing which was held at the half of the PRC-Mississippi Delta game.

Loretta Smith of Carriere won the $275 Pearl River College tuition scholarship, while James Burge of Lumberton picked up the $50 Hancock Bank Savings Bond.

Linda Eades of Poplarville won a $100 gift certificate from Norman Stanbro Ford. Corey Smith and Dorothy Henry of Poplarville each won $100 gift certificates from the Poplarville Merchants Association.

Lisa Davis of Poplarville won a $50 cash prize from the North Pearl River County Chamber of Commerce and Patsy Howard of Poplarville won a $60 gift certificate from the Merchants Association.

Boone's Pharmacy and Rheams Jewelry placed first and second in the window display competition and PRC's DECA organization was the campus winner.

The Mississippi Association of Student Nurses placed second in the campus competition and VICA was third.

Participating merchants included: Unifirst Savings, Sears, Radio Shack, Boone's Pharmacy, J&G Auto Parts, Sunflower, Hancock Bank, Hair by Byrle, Poplarville Hardware, TWL Store, Rheams Jewelry, Bill's Dollar Store, City Florist, Western Auto, Apples LTD., Pearl River Drug, Pete's Athletic Shop, Williams' Store, Calico Gifts and Crafts, Pritchett's Cleaners,

Reasons vary for choosing social work career

HATTIESBURG—While social work may be the "in" thing for college students this school year, reasons for choosing the field are as varied as the people who get involved.

An improved job outlook, slowly rising social consciousness, the need for degrees, the evidence of local problems, growing opportunities in the private sector, the growing number of elderly services—all are viewed as reasons for rising enrollments within the academic discipline of social work.

"Social workers do more than determine eligibility for public services," said Dr. Shirley Jones, dean of the University of Southern Mississippi Graduate School of Social Work, the only master's degree program of social work in the state.

"There are many career opportunities that promote both social and economic development," she added, noting, "More and more people in the private sector are becoming aware of their social responsibility—pushing for social justice and basic qualities of life for the disadvantaged, poor and minorities."

"Schools of social work are in a position to assist people of all social and economic standings with their problems," the dean said.

Accredited by the Council on Social Work Education, the USM program was begun in 1974. A majority of students enter the graduate program from the state's four colleges with baccalaureate social work programs in the state—The University of Mississippi, Delta State University, Jackson State University and Mississippi Valley State University.

At USM, some six fulltime and four part-time faculty members instruct the 60-semester hour curriculum required of students during the two-year program. In addition, four part-time adjunct faculty members assist in the instruction of off-campus classes offered at extension programs in Jackson, Long Beach, Tupelo and Cleveland. The classes generally are offered at night due to the increasing number of adult students returning to college, Jones said.

Adjunct faculty located in social service agencies across the state also supervise students in field practicums required during their second year of graduate work, and a 35-member advisory board that meets three times a year provides public and private arena supervision over the program's curriculum, goals and funding.

According to the Council of Social Work Education, a decade of declining enrollments in the nation's social work programs began a turnaround in 1985, with about 15,000 fulltime and 8,000 part-time students signed up. They estimate enrollments are rising at a rate of about 10 percent each year.

At USM, enrollment in the Graduate School of Social Work has remained steady. Not counting extension courses, 109 students are enrolled in the program this fall.

In the future, Jones said she would like to have an undergraduate social work program in place as well as a post-master's program for graduates to update and upgrade their knowledge and skills.

"As the only master's program in the state, we must guide and support the profession. This is the next step to doing that," she explained.

Principals group suggests modernization of middle level education programs

RESTON—Middle level education, if it is to serve the needs of its clients, must remain more student-centered than academic focused, according to a national group of middle level experts.

The Council on Middle Level Education of the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) has issued a 10-point program for meeting the needs of early adolescents to prepare them for high school and adult life.

"There is probably no age more difficult for educators than early adolescence," contends George Melton, NASSP deputy executive director. "These youngsters bring considerable excess baggage to middle level schools—ranging from just trying to understand their developing bodies to beginning to anticipate adulthood." NASSP defines middle level grades as sixth through ninth.

The 10-point plan calls for general education, not narrow specialization.

"Certainly middle level youngsters should be grounded in the so-called basic academic skills," said Melton. "They, just as other youngsters, need to know how to communicate, compute and read. Yet, if we throw all early adolescents into specialized courses without room for individual exploration, we may lose a budding artist or musician or linguist to boredom."

The council urged that early adolescents be exposed to a variety of learning and elective courses, including academics, vocational, arts and others.

A second point called "exciting and engaging activities, not passive assimilation of information."

Early adolescents simply do not have a lengthy attention span, according to Melton. "We must capture their attention competing against rock videos and other enticements," he said.

"We can only get them to understand the excitement of learning by getting them involved, getting them to explore and experience, surely not by asking them to regurgitate." The plan also asserts the need to develop independence. It calls for "beginning independence and making mistakes, not sudden induction into adulthood."

"These students must understand that it's OK to make a mistake in order to learn," he stated. "Too many schools hold expectations for youngsters that to offer an incorrect answer is to commit a sin. In fact, that's the only way to grow in an active learning environment."

The Council also urged that early adolescence is a time for —Exploration of ideas, not regurgitation of trivialities;

—Learning to cooperate with others, not compete against them;
—Trying out self-identities, not being forced to conform;
—Actively exploring values and alternative beliefs, not for narrow indoctrination;
—Finding unity, and wholeness, not for reduction and fragmentation;
—Understanding the transition from childhood to adolescence, not being isolated from the personal past and future; and —Resolving the issues of early adolescence, not simply preparing for adolescence and adulthood.

AGREEMENT PENNED—Signing an agreement to establish an Automation and Robotics Application Center at the National Space Technologies Laboratory in Hancock County are, from left, Robert M. Barlow, technical utilities officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA); University of Southern Mississippi College of Science and Technology Dean Dr. G. David Huffman; USM President Dr.

Aubrey K. Lucas; Rick Hux, manager of commercial programs for the Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation (MDET); and Dr. Tal Bankston, manager of technology transfer for MDET. The center will provide assistance to Mississippians and others in the development of new services or products, using the NASA computer database—what may be considered the largest computer library in the world.

Survey reflects drug screening trend among employers

A recent survey conducted earlier this year at Mississippi State University found that nearly 26 percent of employers recruiting at the university have a drug testing policy for all new employees. A national survey reported similar findings.

The MSU Career Services Center survey also found that 42 percent of these employers test full-time employees, and nearly 15 percent screen part-time and summer employees.

In addition, the survey showed that more than 21 percent test only with cause and that nearly 7 percent test employees randomly.

The 100 employers participating in the survey represented an 81 percent response rate to the questionnaire.

"The results of our survey confirm other studies showing that pre-employment drug screening programs are becoming a trend among our nation's employers," said center director Gloria H. Reeves.

Reeves said the rate of employee testing was highest among entry level professionals (27.3 percent). Other rates were as follows: clerical/technical personnel (25.9 percent), management/executive level personnel (23.8 percent), and maintenance personnel (23 percent).

According to Reeves, more than 30 percent of employers test employees before they report for work; 25 percent test employees when they accept a job offer; and approximately 23 percent test before a job offer is made.

The College Placement Council, of which the MSU placement center is a member, conducted a national survey in January. In that survey, nearly 30 percent of employers of new college graduates said they were screening job applicants for drug use and another 20 percent plan to adopt the practice within two years.

"Employers ranked safety as the top reason for establishing drug screening programs," Reeves said of the national report. "It was selected nearly four times more than the second reason—security."

In descending order of importance, the national study found other reasons for testing were: quality/reliability of products; quality of service; increased productivity; control of medical costs; and law, government or non-company regulations.

Reeves said that independent laboratories are the site of 70 percent of the drug tests, whereas 27 percent of employers have on-site tests. The remaining employers test at colleges or the nearest available location.

"The majority of employers have no retest policy for those who fail the test, but nearly 13 percent retest after one year," she said.

North Bay Elementary PTO News

North Bay Elementary PTO salutes the kindergarten teachers for the month of October.

Ms. Tonya Perniciaro, Ms. Terry Brown and Ms. Lesley Stone are the kindergarten teachers at North Bay.

Ms. Tonya Perniciaro has a BS degree in elementary education which she obtained from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Her yearly goal is to help her students develop into confident individuals who will be ready and excited to go into first grade.

Teaching was her career choice because of her love of children and her strong desire to help today's children in any way possible.

She feels all children should be given an opportunity to learn, and if she can help them to do so then she will have accomplished her goal.

Ms. Terry Brown has a BS degree in elementary education from the University of Southern Mississippi. This is her second year in the Bay-Waveland District.

Before coming to the system, she taught four- and five-year-olds at the First Presbyterian Church in Gulfport for six years.

Her yearly goal is to help her students grow into children who are ready to face the future and first grade.

Teaching has always been a career choice for Ms. Brown and whose mother-in-law was a great source of influence and encouragement to her.

She feels that she has a lot to give her students and that anything she can do to help them learn is the reason she is at North Bay.

Ms. Lesley Stone obtained her BS degree in elementary education from William Carey College on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

She also has a state registered nurse's degree obtained in England from the Queen Alexandra Royal Army Nurse Corps. She has been teaching three years and this is her second year with the Bay-Waveland School District.

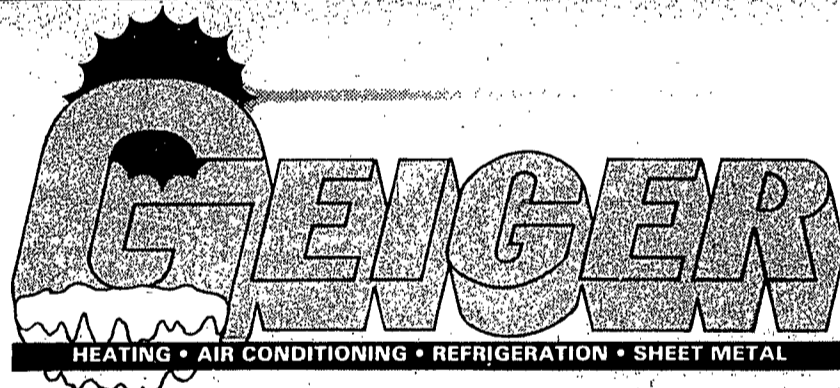

Her yearly goal is to help her students gain confidence in themselves and in everything they do.

This she feels will help them prepare for the future and anything that they will have to face, especially when they enter the first grade.

Teaching has always been a career choice for Ms. Stone

Southern novelist to speak at UNO

Award winning author Josephine Humphreys will discuss her work during a brown bag lunch from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, in room 125 of the University Center at the University of New Orleans.

Also that day, there will be an autograph party and a reading by the author from 5 to 7 p.m. in the UNO Bookstore. Both events are free and open to the public.

Humphreys, who is a graduate of Duke and Yale universities, is the author of "Dreams of Sleep," a novel about the changing social fabric of Charleston, South Carolina, which won the 1985 Ernest Hemingway Foundation award.

Fred Chappell in "The New York Times Book Review" called Humphreys "a dazzling stylist" in his critique of her second book, "Rich in Love."

Of the book itself, Chappell said that it is "a novel in which self-knowledge is not only an end in itself but also a motivation for future acts."

There is something winningly cheerful in this view of behavior."

SPINAL DISC PROBLEMS

A spinal disc is a thin layer of cartilage which separates two vertebrae, and acts as a shock-absorber for the spine. Because of mankind's upright posture, the pressure on these discs is very great. They may become squeezed, or protruded. This can result in many complications and much pain. An understanding of these conditions may help you avoid problems and suffering from disorders of this kind.

HOLLYWOOD TALES

'One of America's most potent sagas—Hollywood in its golden days of the 1930s—is the subject of "Tales from the Hollywood Hills," a three-part "Great Performances" miniseries airing Fridays, beginning Nov. 6, on Mississippi ETV. The first part will air at 10 p.m., the other two at 9 p.m.

The series probes Tinseltown from the perspectives of three major writers who know the film colony firsthand.

John O'Hara's "Natica Jackson," the premiere installment starring Michelle Pfeiffer, Brian Kerwin and Hector Elizondo, is a compelling portrait of an ambitious young actress who falls in love with a married man who does not work in the film industry.

Next, Budd Schulberg builds his "A Table at Ciro's" around a studio head who holds a dinner party at the legendary Hollywood nightclub and discovers that everyone wants favors from him. Stella Stevens and Steven Bauer star.

US Rep. Jamie Whitten selected as Ole Miss' Centennial Alumnus

UNIVERSITY—U.S. Rep. Jamie Whitten (D-Miss.) has been selected by the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges as The University of Mississippi's Centennial Alumnus.

Rep. Whitten will be recognized in a special ceremony on Nov. 10 at the JW Marriott Hotel, 14th and Penn-sylvania Avenue, N.W., in Washington, D.C. at 11:30 a.m. (EST). The general session will be addressed by veteran CBS newsman Walter Cronkite. One representative from each NASULGC-member in-stitution will also be honored at the ceremony, which is the last event of the Association's Centennial Sym-posium.

Rep. Whitten, a graduate of the Ole Miss Law School, has served in the U.S. House of Representatives under nine Presidents. He chairs the vital House Appropriations Com-mittee and was voted "the most effective chairman in the U.S. Congress" in 1982 by his colleagues.

The Cascilla native has authored numerous bills in Congress to pro-tect and develop the nation's natural resources and the National Watershed and Flood Prevention Program was established through his in-itiative. He has also supported major highway and navigation pro-jects, including the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. In 1985 more than 2,000 people gathered on the Ole Miss campus for Jamie Whitten Ap-preciation Day, sponsored by the Mississippi Association of Conserva-tion Districts.

The highly-respected Con-gressman has received hundreds of awards including the Mississippi American Legion Distinguished Ser-vice Award, the American Voca-tional Award for Outstanding Ser-vice, the Watchdog of the Treasury Award from the National Associa-tion of Businessmen, and the 50th Anniversary Medal for outstanding contribution to American agriculture from the nation's Federal Land Banks.

Bay High students to compete in USA scholastic tourney

Approximately 20 Gulf Coast high schools will participate in the first invitational Gulf Coast High School Bowl Tournament held at the University of South Alabama on Nov. 6.

Included will be high schools from Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. The day long competition, patterned after the Alabama Scholar's Bowl, tests the knowledge of academically talented high school students in areas of academics, current events and trivia.

Winning teams will be presented trophies, with plaques going to individual members on the all-star team.

Mississippi representative include Nathan Barber, John Dowden, Dawn Hardy, Archie Speighte and Wendy Walker, all of Bay Senior High, Bay St. Louis.

COMMUNITY WEEK—North Bay Elementary School kindergarten teachers designated Oct. 26 through 30 as Community Week. Representatives of the Bay St. Louis Police, Fire and Public Works Departments presented programs to the kindergarten students. Coast Electric Power Association and Jitney Jungle Food Store also participated in the program. Kindergarten teachers and assistants involved in this activity include Leslie Stone, Terry Brown, Tonya Perniciaro, Cindy Gephneimer, Kathy Green and Paddy Johnson. Pictured is Coast Electric bucket truck operator George Malley who explains his job to the students.

Using paper towels to protect hands from heat, roll potatoes between hands to make mealy. Cut potatoes in half lengthwise. Scoop potato out of shells into bowl; mash. Add remaining ingredients except cheese. Beat until light and fluffy. Spoon back into shells and place in 13x9-inch pan; top with cheese.
